

Eglin Inns Guest Directory

Welcome!

I would like to take a moment to thank you for staying with us at The Eglin Inns. We are constantly striving to provide you with the best lodging and customer service, not only to meet your needs, but to exceed them.

We have provided you with a few complimentary items to get you through your first night's stay. Feel free to ask any Lodging team member if you need any of these items replenished. If you forgot to pack any other toiletry item, please come see us at the Front Desk. We should have what you need available for purchase.

Please feel free to share your comments with us by filling out the customer feedback card. We appreciate your effort in sharing with us not only the areas we are excelling in, but also the areas that need improvement.

We look forward to serving you again on your return visit. Should you have any questions, please feel free to call us anytime.

Emergency Response Information

Hurricanes

Hurricanes are severe tropical storms that form in the southern Atlantic Ocean, Caribbean Sea, Gulf of Mexico and the eastern Pacific Ocean. They have winds of at least 74 mph. Hurricane season is 1 June – 30 November, peaking between August and September. The four hazards produced by a hurricane are storm surge, high winds, heavy rainfall, and tornadoes. Hurricanes can pose a very serious threat to the well being of everyone. Base officials will keep you advised of hurricane conditions, provide you with pertinent information regarding actions that you should take, and direct you to evacuate to a shelter if the situation dictates.

Hurricane Condition Codes

Category	Damage Potential	Wind Speeds		Surge (feet)
		Knots	MPH
1	Weak	64-82	74-95	4-5
2	Moderate	83-95	96-110	6-8
3	Strong	96-113	111-130	9-12
4	Very Strong	114-134	131-155	13-18
5	Devastating	Above 134	Above 155	Above 18

Hurricane Categories

Condition	Response Phase	Hours until destructive winds
4	Alert	72
3	Preparation	48
2	Final Preparation	24
1	Secure	12

Points to Remember

1. If notified by Lodging personnel or Security Forces to vacate, please be prompt but exercise caution and safety.
2. If you are evacuated to a shelter, please take items such as pillows, blankets, toiletries, identification, important documents, prescription medication, formula, and baby diapers with you. You will be given timely information regarding the location of the shelter or the shelter reception area where you will be expected to report. If you require transportation, please contact the front desk by dialing '0'.
3. Personnel in the VQ/DV area without transportation will be notified of the time and location of the bus transport to the shelter.
4. Sponsors must make sure their dependents are evacuated to shelters or to an alternate location out of the local area.
5. When the all clear to return has been given, please ensure that any items borrowed from Lodging are returned.

Tornados

Tornados can occur at any time throughout the year, but are more predominant from February to September. Tornados can pose a very serious threat to the well-being of everyone. Base officials will keep you advised of tornado status and provide you with pertinent information regarding actions that you should take. Stay alert to changing weather conditions and be aware of some of the danger signs:

- dark or greenish sky, large hail, and dark low lying clouds
- loud roar, sudden drop in temperature

A Tornado WATCH is issued when conditions are favorable for the development of tornados.

A Tornado WARNING (take immediate safety precautions) is issued once storm spotter have seen a tornado or the Doppler Radar has indicated circulation. A tornado warning is a higher level of alert than a tornado watch.

In the event of a tornado, please listen to the Base Giant Voice system, Eglin will sound sirens across the base, along with precautionary instructions informing everyone that a tornado has been sighted or is forming nearby.

Shelter-In-Place (SIP)

Please Shelter-In-Place in the event of a hazardous materials emergency, terrorist use of chemical or biological materials, if an improvised explosive device is discovered, or in an active shooter situation. The SIP for your Lodging guest room is the bathroom.

Active Shooter

An active shooter is an individual actively engaged in killing or attempting to kill people in a confined and/or populated area. In most cases, active shooters use firearms and there is no pattern or method to their selection of victims. In the event of an active shooter situation, please shelter-in-place. Stay there until the all clear is given or you are given further instructions by Lodging or Security Forces personnel.

Housekeeping will replace any un-hung towels and the linen will be changed between occupants, every 7 days, or at the guest's request. Please be aware of our SAVE THE TOWELS program. All of the water and detergents used to wash hotel towels and linen each day all over the world puts a heavy burden on the environment. If you'd like to reuse your towels, just hang them on the towel racks. If you want your towels replaced, please just leave them on the bathroom floor or in the Personal property of value should be locked in the safe provided in each room. Follow the directions located on the safe to secure your valuables. Please remember to retrieve all items placed in the safe when you check out and leave the safe door open when you leave. Housekeepers are instructed not to pick up or move occupant's personal property at any time. Leaving items lying around the room will result in your room not being properly cleaned.

Stay-over service includes amenities restocked, trash emptied, beds made, light dusting, toilets cleaned, bathtubs cleaned, and vanities cleaned and vacuuming. Extended stay-over (weekly) service includes stay-over services as well as shower curtain cleaned and bed linens changed.

We at Eglin Inns strive to give you the best in housekeeping services. We ask that you take a moment to fill out our customer comment card and acknowledge any housekeeper that did an amazing job during your stay. Our award winning housekeepers, front desk clerks and reservationists earn awards for exceptional customer service as indicated on customer comment cards.

Internet Information

Wireless High Speed Internet Instructions

Wireless internet service is provided via an 802.11b/g signal. This signal is not encrypted, and no login credentials are needed. The Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol (DHCP) service will automatically setup your Internet Protocol (IP) and your Domain Name System (DNS). DNS is an Internet System that translates web names into IP addresses. If you have trouble connecting to the wireless service please see below.

Setup Instructions

1. Turn on your computer; most computers will try to automatically connect to any available wireless network. Connect to the Service Set ID (SSID) Network Name: midatlanticbb.
2. Ensure your computer is setup to use the DHCP service or obtain an IP automatically. If you regularly connect to wireless hot spots your computer should be setup for this.
3. If you're having a problem connecting to a Virtual Private Network (VPN), please contact our front desk.

Eglin AFB History

For more than 75 years and spanning 8 wars, Eglin has played a prominent role in airpower history. In 1931, personnel of the Army Air Corps Tactical School (Maxwell Field, Alabama) looking for a site for a bombing and gunnery range, saw the potential of the sparsely populated forested areas surrounding Valparaiso, Florida and the vast expanse of the adjacent Gulf of Mexico.

A local businessman and airplane buff, James E. Plew, saw the potential of a military payroll to boost the depression stricken economy of the local area. He leased to the city of Valparaiso 137 acres on which an airport was established in 1933. In 1934, Plew offered the US government a donation of 1,460 contiguous acres for the bombing and gunnery base. This leasehold became the headquarters for the Valparaiso Bombing and Gunnery Base activated on 14 June 1935 under the command of Captain Arnold H. Rich. On 4 August 1937, the base was redesignated Eglin Field in honor of Lieutenant Colonel Frederick I. Eglin, US Air Corps, killed on 1 January 1937 in an aircraft crash.

With the outbreak of war in Europe in 1939 and President Roosevelt's call for an expansion of the Army Air Corps, General Henry H. "Hap" Arnold ordered the establishment of a proving ground for aircraft armament. Eglin was selected for the testing mission, and on 27 June 1940, the US Forestry Service ceded to the War Department the Choctawhatchee National Forest, consisting of some 384,000 acres. In 1941, the Air Corps Proving Ground was activated and Eglin became the site for gunnery training for Army Air Forces fighter pilots as well as a major testing center for aircraft, equipment, and tactics. In March 1942, the base served as one of the sites for Lieutenant Colonel Jimmy Doolittle to prepare his B-25 crews for their raid against Tokyo.

In addition to testing all new aircraft and their serial modifications, the Proving Ground Command, established at Eglin April 1942, found the isolation and immensity of the ranges especially well suited for special tasks. For example, in 1944, personnel developed the tactics and techniques to destroy German missile installations being built to support V-1 buzz bomb attacks on England.

By the end of the war, Eglin had made a recognizable contribution to the effectiveness of the American air operations in Europe and the Pacific and continued to maintain a role in the research, development, and testing of air armament. Eglin also became a pioneer in missile development when, in early 1946, the First Experimental Guided Missiles Group was activated to develop techniques for missile launching and handling, to establish training programs, and monitor the development of a drone or pilotless aircraft capability to support the Atomic Energy Commission tests of Operation Crossroads, at Eniwetok. On 13 January 1947, the Guided Missiles Group received nationwide publicity by conducting a successful drone flight from Eglin to Washington, DC in a simulated bombing mission.

On 1 October 1998, as part of the Air Forces' strategic plan to guide the service into the 21st Century, the Air Force Development Test Center became the Air Force Material Command's Air Armament Center (AAC). As one of AFMC's product centers, AAC was responsible for development, acquisition, testing, and fielding all air-delivered weapons. AAC applied advanced technology, engineering, and programming efficiencies across the entire product life cycle to provide superior combat capability. The center planned, directed, and conducted test and evaluation of US and allied air armament, navigation/guidance systems, and command and control (C2) systems and supported the largest single base mobility commitment in the Air Force.

AAC accomplished its mission through three components: the Air Force Program Executive Office for Weapons with two systems and a systems group, the 46th Test Wing, and the 96th Air Base Wing. Recently the AAC provided our warfighters with the munitions and expeditionary combat support to dominate the enemy in Operations ALLIED FORCE, ENDURING FREEDOM, and IRAQI FREEDOM. During this time Department of Defense, the Air Force, and AFMC presented the Air Armament Center with awards in acquisition, test, and combat support.

Eglin underwent a major transition in FY 2012 when AFMC's Five-Center Construct directly impacted the Air Armament Center and its wings. The command reorganized in a response to the Department of Defense call for efficiencies and to shed waste across the US military. In July 2012, the AFMC activated five new centers and consolidated others as it transitioned from 12 to the 5: the Air Force Lifecycle Management Center, Air Force Nuclear Weapons Center, Air Force Research Lab, Air Force Sustainment Center and the Air Force Test Center.

The Air Armament Center was inactivated and the 96th Air Base Wing and the 46th Test Wing were merged into one wing, with the 96th Air Base Wing re-designated as the 96th Test Wing. From strategic bombing to operation testing, the 96th has contributed greatly to America's defense of freedom. Stood up in the midst of the caldron of World War II, the 96th B-17s played a major role in the bombing of Germany. It was during this time that the 96th developed the capability to bomb around the clock and thus acquired the motto "it's always the hour." The 96th as a Strategic Air Command bomb wing later played a major role through the years in the defense of the United States with B-47, B-52, and B-1 bombers. It also operated KC-135 tankers and inter-continental ballistic missiles. Inactivated and then redesignated as the Eglin air base wing due to its rich combat and operational history, it operated the largest Air Force Base in the western world.

Re-designated the 96 Test Wing, it is now one of the largest wings in the USAF, and continues to support development and acquisition of war-winning weapons, test and evaluate state of the art weapons for the war fighter, provide superior installation support and serve as the responsible steward for Eglin's land, water and air ranges.
